Memo Regarding Take-Out Business

LUPC has asked for historical data on the level of take-out business The Barn has experienced. Below are the averages for several representative months during the current year:

- In February 2019, we averaged 10.5 take-out orders a day.
- In August of 2019, we averaged 12.0 take-out orders a day.
- In October 2019, we averaged 11.35 take-out orders a day.

As you can see number of orders is very consistent regardless of time of year. It is also very small, averaging about one per hour overall and probably 2-3 per hour during typical meal times.

LUPC has also asked for a prediction for the future. Every business always hopes for increases. And we do hope that the convenience of the take-out window will cause an increase in take-out orders. Having said that, take-out business has never been and will not be in the future a major focus of our business model.

Let's assume that we had a five-fold increase, which would be beyond our wildest dreams. In that case the usage of the take-out window would still only be on the order of 10-15 per hour during mealtimes. At this most optimistic of outlooks the take-out window could easily handle this with no congestion.
