To Whom it may concern,

Red cat is an immensely important part of the Oak Bluffs business community in many aspects. Restaurants come and go but over the years the Red Cat has created a unique environment that has made it a destination restaurant for visitor and islanders alike. With its diverse, ever changing menu, it can host families and romantic upscale dinners that even attracted our president. I had my engagement ring put on my finger there, my bridal shower, and more celebrations for life accomplishments than I can count. But what’s more important than the food and environment is what Ben has created, a family. From the patrons to the employees, to the people that come once a year, it’s home to every single one of them. It truly is more than just a restaurant.

The town of Oak Bluffs has many moving parts but Red Cat is an integral part of that summer time machine.

Phoenix Rogers